Meaning: This supplies direct evidence of stated preference reasons, including perceived quality.

Important limit: These figures are quoted from report prose; it does not provide a matching MLS-versus-EPL quality rating on an identical scale in this passage. The subgroup denominator and whether answers were multiple-response are not shown here. Do not treat these percentages as additive or representative of all Americans.

Application: Use as a perception-claim input to RQ3; sporting statistics cannot convert these values into causal estimates.
